

hatā hy ete kauravāḥ) 7. 124. 21; the large army of Kauravas was as good as killed 7. 125. 4; bad omens specially for the army of Kauravas 7. 129. 25; Karna blamed Krpa for his speech which would frighten the armies of Kauraveyas 7. 133. 53; Pāṇḍavas could destroy the army of Kauravas in half a moment (kauravīm senām) if Aśvatthāman, Karna and others were not present 7. 135. 4; Aśvatthāman honoured by Kauraveyas when he killed the enemies by thousands 7. 135. 54; Yudhiṣṭhira advised to go where Bhīma fought with Kauravas 7. 137. 47; Arjuna blew away (vyadhamat) the army of Kauravas 7. 139. 8; Arjuna and the Kaurava army afflicted each other by different weapons (arjunaḥ kauravaṁ sainyam arjunaṁ cāpi kauravāḥ) 7. 139. 30; there was a loud sound when the Pāṇḍus (i. e. Pāṇḍavas) and Pāṇḍāla armies (pāṇḍupāṇḍālasenānām) and those of Kauravas clashed with each other 7. 139. 32; Bhīma, thinking Duryodhana dead, made a loud roar fighting Kauravas 7. 141. 56; during the night war, when the Pāṇḍava army began to flee throwing away torches, they could be seen running away only by the light on the side of Kauravas (kauravāṇāṁ prakāśena dṛśyante tu drutāḥ pare) 7. 147. 20; as the battle advanced, the night became very dark for Pāṇḍavas and Kauravas 7. 147. 38; Ghaṭotkaca, while falling down, assumed huge form and killed many Kauravas; seeing Ghaṭotkaca dead, Kauravas, delighted, uttered loud roar and blew bherīs, conches, murajas and ānakas 7. 154. 61-62; Kṛṣṇa pointed out to Arjuna that Kauravyas, hitting their target, were scattering away the army of Pāṇḍavas (labdhalakṣyā hi kauravyā vidhamanti camūṁ tava) 7. 156. 33; Kauravas put to flight their opponents; Kauravas showed their valour disregarding the strength of Bhīma's arms and the skill of Arjuna in the use of missiles 7. 158. 33, 35; Vyāsa advised agitated Yudhiṣṭhira to fight with Kauravas (with fortitude) 7. 158. 60; the large army of the Kauravas became confused (āvignam abhavat sarvaṁ kauravānām mahad balam) 7. 162. 22; in the confusion of the war that took place on the morning of the fifteenth day, it could not be ascertained who were Kauraveyas and who Pāṇḍālas or Pāṇḍavas 7. 162. 28; Arjuna suddenly attacked the Kauraveyas 7. 164. 57; Dhṛṣṭadyumna, undaunted, scattered Vasātis, Śibis, Bāhlikas and even Kauravas who were protecting Droṇa 7. 165. 24; Kauravas, afraid and more shaken, ran away at the death of Droṇa 7. 165. 74; Droṇa was killed although Kauravas and Arjuna tried to forbid Dhṛṣṭadyumna 7. 165. 123; Yudhiṣṭhira wondered whether it was Indra who came to help Kauravas (kauravārtham) after the death of Droṇa and put the scattered army into order; Kauravas mustered courage for dreadful act and blew their conches 7. 167. 9, 18, 22, 24-25; Dhṛṣṭadyumna felt that Aśvatthāman would not be able to protect Kauravyas and would only lead them to death (ghātayīṣyati kauravyān) 7. 168. 27; Dhṛṣṭadyumna asked Sātyaki to fight with Kauravas 7. 169. 39; Dhṛṣṭadyumna drew Bhīma's attention to the advancing Kauravas 7. 169. 57; Aśvatthāman steadied Kauravas agitated after the death of Droṇa (saṁrabdhā hi sthīribhūtā droṇaputreṇa kauravāḥ) 7. 170. 10; as the Pāṇḍava warriors tried to resist the Nārāyaṇāstra,