

near the cremation ground 4. 36. 4; Uttara afraid to fight with the Kurus since their army had many excellent heroes, was very fierce, unassailable even by gods and was endless (bahupravīram atyugraṁ devair api durāsadam ... kurusainyam ananta-kam) 4. 36. 9, 13; Bṛhannaḍā, however, was determined to take Uttara in the midst of the Kurus who were ready to kill their opponents (madhyam ... kurūṇām ātatāyinām | neṣyāmi) 4. 36. 19; if not Uttara, Bṛhannaḍā was ready to fight with the Kurus 4. 36. 23; Uttara unwilling to face the Kurus even if the Kurus plundered more wealth of the Matsyas 4. 36. 24; the Kurus seeing Bṛhannaḍā run after Uttara wondered who he was; they discussed but came to no conclusion 4. 36. 29, 36; Bṛhannaḍā again assured Uttara that he would fight with the Kurus and asked Uttara to drive his chariot close to their army 4. 36. 44-45; 4. 40. 4; the sound which Arjuna produced with his bow was thought by the Kurus to be the sound produced by the splitting of the lightning (taṁ śabdāṁ kuravo 'jānan visphoṭam aśaner iva) 4. 40. 27; Karṇa said that the Kurus may return with the booty or, seated in their chariots, watch him fight alone with Arjuna 4. 43. 21; Kṛpa reminded the Kurus that they were rescued from the Gandharvas by Arjuna single-handed 4. 44. 5; Uttara drove Arjuna's chariot in the direction of the Kurus and Duryodhana 4. 48. 13; Arjuna's chariot moved all around in the army of the Kurus 4. 49. 12; all groups of gods, Siddhas and great sages gathered in the air to witness the battle between Arjuna and Kurus 4. 51. 13; all Kurus were struck with wonder to see the battle between Arjuna and Aśvatthāman 4. 54. 11; Arjuna said that let the Kurus and their forces act as spectators when he fought with Karṇa 4. 55. 6; Kurus would get a sight of Arjuna's Gāṇḍīva and would keep wondering whether he shot arrows with his right or left hand 4. 56. 4; Arjuna wanted to burn with the lustre of his missiles the forest of the Kuru army, with trees in the form of banners, grass in the form of foot-soldiers and lions in the form of chariot-fighters (dhvajavṛkṣaṁ pattitrṇaṁ rathasimhagaṇāyutam | vanam ādīpayiṣyāmi kurūṇām astratejasā ||) 4. 56. 12; Arjuna, when he employed Aindra astra, covered all the Kurus (with its lustre) 4. 58. 9; Arjuna warded off every missile of the Kuru stalwarts with a corresponding missile 4. 61. 8; when Arjuna used his Saṁmohana astra he struck the minds of (Kurus) with fear and when he blew the conch, the chief Kuru warriors were stupefied by the loud sound of the conch 4. 61. 8-11; Arjuna asked Uttara to go to the unconscious Kurus to get their (upper) garments 4. 61. 12; when Arjuna saw the chief Kuru heroes returning to Hāstinapura he was satisfied 4. 61. 25, 29; Arjuna defeated the Kurus in the battle who left (for Hāstinapura) 4. 62. 1, 7; when the defeated sons of Dhṛtarāṣṭra had left, their soldiers (kurusainikāḥ) came out of hiding from the dense forest 4. 62. 2; Virāṭa informed about the cattle-raid of the Kurus 4. 63. 6; he knew that when the Kurus came to know about the defeat of the Trigartas, they would not keep quiet (kuravas te hi ... na sthāsyanti kadācana) 4. 63. 10; Virāṭa was grieved and tormented when he knew that his