

Lohityā f. : Name of a river.

Listed by Samjaya among the rivers of the Bhāratavarṣa; people used its water for drinking 6. 10. 34, 13 (for other details see Puspaveṇī).

Lauhitya¹ m. : See Lohita.

Lauhitya² m. : See Lohitya¹.

Lauhitya³ m. : See Lohitya².

Vamśagulma m. : Name of a tīrtha.

It is the source of the rivers Śoṇa and Narmadā (śoṇasya narmadāyāś ca prabhavē ... / vamśagulme); by bathing there (upaspṛṣṭya) one gets the fruit of a horse sacrifice (Vājīmedha) 3. 83. 9.

Vamśamūlaka nt. : Name of a tīrtha.

By reaching it (āsāḍya) and by bathing there a pilgrim (tīrthasevī) lifts up his family 3. 81. 34.

Vakradvāra m. : Name of a mountain.

One of the three mountains, the other two being Droṇa and Śataśṛṅga, piled up together by Indra for the satras of the ancestors of Sulabhā (droṇaś ca śataśṛṅgaś ca vakradvāraś ca parvatāḥ / mama satreṣu pūrveṣāṃ citā maghavatā saha ||) 12. 308. 183 (Nī. on Bom. Ed. 12. 320. 182 : droṇādayaḥ parvatāḥ mama pūrveṣāṃ satreṣu maghavatā saha citāḥ cayane iṣṭakāsthāne niveṣitā ity arthaḥ).

Vaṅkṣu f. : Name of a river.

Listed by Bhīṣma in the Daivata-Rsi-Vamśa 13. 151. 17, 2.

Vaṭeśvarapura nt. : Name of a tīrtha.

Sacred to Keśava (Kṛṣṇa); by reaching (gatvā) Vaṭeśvarapura, by worshipping Keśava there, and by observing fast (upavāsāt) one undoubtedly gets the desired objects (īpsitān ... kāmān) 3. 82. 111.

Vadhūsarā f. : Name of a river.

Flowing by the āśrama of Cyavana (cyavanasyāśramam prati) 1. 6. 7; described as a great river (mahānadī) 1. 6. 6; a river arose from the tears flowing from the eyes of Pulomā, wife of Bhrṅgū; the river followed the step of Pulomā; seeing that, Pitāmaha (Brahman) named the river Vadhūsarā (āśrubindūdbhavā tasyāḥ prāvartata mahānadī / ... tasyā mārgam sṛtavatiṃ dṛṣṭvā tu saritam tadā / nāma tasyās tadā nadyāś cakre lokapitāmahaḥ vadhūsareti) 1. 6. 6-7.

Vandanā f. : Name of a river.

Described as a great river (mahānadī); listed by Samjaya among the rivers of the Bhāratavarṣa; people used its water for drinking 6. 10. 17, 13 (for other details see Puspaveṇī).

Varadā f. : Name of a river.

If one bathes at the confluence of Varadā (varadāsaṅgame) one gets the fruit of gifting a thousand cows 3. 83. 31.

Varadāna nt. : Name of a tīrtha.

One can reach this tīrtha from the place where Sarasvatī meets the ocean 3. 80. 79; by bathing at this tīrtha one gets the fruit of gifting a thousand cows 3. 80. 81; sage Durvāsas gave here a boon to Viṣṇu (viṣṇor durvāsasā yatra varo dattaḥ) 3. 80. 81.

Varāṇasī f. : Name of a river.

Listed by Samjaya among the rivers of the Bhāratavarṣa; people used its water for drinking 6. 10. 30, 13 (for other details see Puspaveṇī).