

6. 55. 126; (11) On the eighth day of the war, during the night, Duryodhana reminded Bhīṣma of his vow to kill the Pāṇḍavas along with the Somakas, Pāṇcālas and Karūṣas (pūrvam uktam mahābāho niha- niṣyāmi somakān | pāṇcālān pāṇḍavaiḥ sārḍham karūṣāṁś ceti) 6. 93. 37; (12) On the ninth day of the war, fourteen thousand Cedi, Kāśi and Karūṣa warriors attacked Bhīṣma and were destroyed along with their horses, chariots and elephants (cedikāśīkarūṣāṇām sahasrāṇi caturdaśa ... saṁgrāme bhīṣmam āsādyā ... nimagnāḥ paralokāya savājirathakuñjarāḥ) 6. 102. 17-18; (13) On the tenth day of the war, fourteen thousand Cedi, Kāśi and Karūṣa warriors attacked Bhīṣma and perished (cedikāśīkarūṣāṇām sahasrāṇi caturdaśa ... jagmus te paralokāya) 6. 112. 73-74; (14) Dhṛtarāṣṭra felt that Droṇa must have been killed by Dhṛṣṭadyumna, surrounded by Kekaya, Cedi, Karūṣa and Matsya kings (vṛtaḥ ... kekayaiḥ cedikārūṣāir matsyair anyaiḥ ca bhūmipaiḥ) 7. 8. 27; (15) Among the exploits of Kṛṣṇa recounted by Dhṛtarāṣṭra one referred to his victory in war over Kāśis, Karūṣas and many others (kāśīkosālān karūṣāṁś ca ... ajayad raṇe) 7. 10. 15; (16) On the eleventh day of the war, among those who attacked Droṇa are mentioned Cedis and Kārūṣas; he scattered them away, as does wind a heap of cotton, and burnt their armies and defeated them again and again (cedikārūṣa- kosālāḥ | ... hṛṣṭā droṇam upādravan || ... ācāryaḥ ... vyadhamat tāny anīkāni tūla- rāśim ivānilaḥ || nirdahantam anīkāni tāni tāni punaḥ punaḥ | ... ajayac cedīn kārūṣān ... bhāradvājaḥ punaḥ punaḥ ||) 7. 20. 18-20, 23; (17) On the sixteenth day of the war, when Bhīma, riding an elephant and surrounded by elephant drivers (or warriors) of the Karūṣa, Kosala, Kāśi and Magadha countries, marched into the large Kaurava army, the other warriors riding chariots, and excellent foot-soldiers rushed with them dancing and laughing (karūṣāḥ kāśyā ... dudruvuḥ || teṣāṁ rathāś ca nāgāś ca pravarāś cāpi pattayaḥ || ... hṛṣṭā nṛtyanti ca hasanti ca || tasya sainyasya mahato mahāmātravarair vṛtaḥ | madhyam vṛkodaro 'bhyāgāt tvadīyam nāgadhūrgataḥ ||) 8. 8. 19-21; (18) Towards the end of the same day, the army of Cedis, Kārūṣas and others, riding their chariots, horses and elephants and also foot-soldiers, all of fierce prowess, surrounded Karṇa and, bent on killing him, showered on him different weapons while speaking harsh words; Karṇa blew them away as does wind the trees after breaking them (cedikārūṣamatsyānām ... yad balam | ... ete rathāśvadviradaiḥ pattibhiḥ cogra- vikramaiḥ | parivārya raṇe karṇam nānā- śastrair avākiran | bhāṣanto vāgbhir ugrā- bhiḥ sarve karṇavadhe vṛtaḥ || ... apovāha sma tāt sarvān drumān bhanīkteva mārutaḥ ||) 8. 21. 26-28; (19) On the seventeenth day of the war, Kṛpa, Kṛtavarma and Śakuni fought with the brave Kāśi, Matsya-Kārūṣa, and other soldiers (kāśimatsyaiḥ ca kārūṣaiḥ ... | ... śūravīrair yuyudhur yuddhadurmadāḥ ||) 8. 32. 17; (20) On the same day, Kārūṣa, Kāśi and other warriors encircled Vasuṣeṇa (kārūṣā ... kāśīkosa- lāḥ | ... vīrā vasuṣeṇam avārayan) 8. 33. 22; (21) The same day, Karṇa held back Bhīmasena along with Karūṣas and others (bhīmasenam karūṣāṁś ca ... | karṇo ... vārayām āsa) 8. 38. 16; (22) The same day, angered, Karṇa killed great Cedi and