

p. 103. 2 after the entry Ghōra add the following two entries :

Cakra<sup>1</sup> nt. : See Sudarśana.

Cakra<sup>2</sup> nt. : Used as a missile by Ghaṭotkaca.

Described as heavenly (divya); having a thousand spokes (śaṣrāra), and a razor-like end (kṣurānta); decorated with pearls and jewels (maṇiratnavibhūṣita), and shining like the rising sun (bālasūryābha) 7. 150. 42; Ghaṭotkaca hurled it at Kaṇa but it was rendered futile by Kaṇa by shooting arrows 7. 150. 43-44.

p. 104. 2. 13 read 7. 65. 2, 32;

p. 104. 2. 24 read (7. 63. 21); and before B. add : in the opinion of Droṇa, Arjuna would not be able to get through this Vyūha (vyūhiṣyāmi ca tam vyūham yaṁ pārīho na tarisyati) 7. 52. 26; unparalleled (na caiva tādṛśaḥ kaścid vyūha āsīd viśāṁ pate) 7. 100. 8; difficult to be penetrated (sudurbhūda) 7. 127. 6, even by the gods (devaiḥ sudurbhūdam) 7. 127. 2;

p. 105. 1. 26 after 7. 53. 26, 28 add : 7. 69. 24; 7. 71. 2.

p. 105. 1. 30 after 24, 15. add : See Śakāṭavyūha.

p. 105. 2 before the entry Jaitra add the following entry :

Jalavarṣa nt. : A missile (?) produced by the māyā of the Nivātakavaca demons.

When Arjuna defeated the Āśmavarṣa of the Nivātakavacas they produced the Jalavarṣa; as a result, sharp showers as large as axle (dhārābhar akṣamātrābhiḥ) rained in thousands from the sky near Arjuna; they covered the sky all around, and the directions and the intermediary directions; due to the fall of the showers and the roaring of the wind nothing could be clearly distinguished; the showers at either end were connected with the heaven and the earth (dhārā divi ca sambaddhā vasudhāyām ca sarvaśaḥ); the showers confused (vyāmohayanta) Arjuna; he then used the Viśoṣaṇa astra which dried up the water 3. 168. 4-9. [See Salilāstra]

p. 105. 2 before the entry Jaitra and after the entry Jalavarṣa (see above) add the following entry :

Jātavedasaḥ astram nt. : A missile associated with Jātavedas (Agni).

Described as the dear (dayita) missile of Jātavedas; Arjuna discharged it against Kaṇa; it burnt fiercely (tat prajāvāta vai bhṛṣam); Kaṇa pacified it with the employment of the Vāruṇa astra 8. 67. 9-10. [See Āgneyāstra<sup>1</sup> and Agnivarṣa (in the Addenda)].

p. 105. 2. 11 from below read 7. 18. 14, 11; and add : divine (divya) 6. 116. 38 (vaṣṭuḥ astram);

p. 106. 2. 2 (from below) read 8. 24. 29; and add : (7) of Śiva : Śiva is called daṇḍapāṇi 7. 172. 59, daṇḍin 13. 17. 128 (daṇḍimuṇḍa); 14. 8. 24.

p. 108. 2. 7 from below at the end of the entry Devadatta add : [See Vāruṇa<sup>4</sup>]

p. 109. 1 before the entry Dhātūr astra add the following entry :

Daiva<sup>1</sup> adj. : of a missile special to the gods.