

the attack of Aśvasena and others; a fierce battle ensued 7. 15. 11-12; at the sunset when the withdrawal of the Pāṇḍava army was declared by Arjuna (svāny anīkāni ... avahārayat), Sṛñjayas greeted him for his deeds during the day 7. 15. 49-50; (23) On the twelfth day, after killing Śatānīka, Droṇa repeatedly defeated Sṛñjayas and others; seeing Droṇa, like fire, burning the army of Pāṇḍavas, Sṛñjayas trembled; due to the heroism of Droṇa, a river carrying the bodies of Kurus and Pāñcālas to the god of death began to flow (nadīm antaka-gāminīm) 7. 20. 23-24, 34, 36; when Droṇa killed a Pāñcāla prince, Sṛñjayas and others attacked Droṇa shouting 'kill Droṇa, kill Droṇa' (hata droṇam hata droṇam ity āsīt tumulaṁ mahat); but Droṇa agitated them who were very angry 7. 20. 48-49; when Sṛñjayas and others were agitated and were pushed back (calitān ... pranunnān) by the arrows of Droṇa, Kauravas raised a loud roar 7. 21. 7-8; Duryodhana drew attention of Karṇa towards Bhīma who was deserted by Pāṇḍava warriors and Sṛñjayas (hīnaḥ pāṇḍavasṛñjayatḥ) 7. 21. 16; (24) On the thirteenth day, Pāñcāla army which included thousands of Sṛñjayas attacked Droṇa; but Droṇa arrested their advance with arrows; then Pāñcālas and Sṛñjayas did not attack him 7. 34. 5-7, 10; when Abhimanyu defeated Duḥśāsana, Sṛñjayas and others were delighted 7. 39. 11, 17-18; when Subhadrā heard the death of Abhimanyu, she pitied Sṛñjayas and the rest who did not seem to know when Abhimanyu was felled down (dhik kekayāms ... sṛñjayān / ye tvā raṇe gataṁ vīraṁ na jānanti nipātītam) 7. 55. 13; (25) On the fourteenth day, Sātyaki shot arrows at

Droṇa who was as though swallowing (grasantam iva) Sṛñjayas 7. 72. 34; the demon Alambusa made a river flow on the battle-field carrying the dead bodies of Sṛñjayas and others (nadīm pravartayām āsa) 7. 83. 30; when the Pāṇḍava army, which included Sṛñjayas, attacked Droṇa there was a loud roar among the Sṛñjayas (tatrārāvo mahān āsīt); when Droṇa started killing them, Sṛñjayas found no protector 7. 85. 20, 26; Yudhiṣṭhira assured Sātyaki that when he (Sātyaki) would leave to assist Arjuna, Sṛñjayas and others would be there to protect him (Yudhiṣṭhira) 7. 86. 45; Sṛñjayas and others, thrilled, rushed at Droṇa to fight with him with all their might (sarvasaktyā); but Droṇa killed them 7. 101. 50-52; Droṇa asked Duryodhana to go to help Jayadratha; he himself would obstruct the onward march of Sṛñjayas and others 7. 105. 21; (26) After the death of Jayadratha, before the start of the night war between the fourteenth and fifteenth day, Droṇa pointed out to Duryodhana the armies of Pāṇḍavas and Sṛñjayas marching towards him (Droṇa) 7. 126. 31; he directed Duryodhana to hold back his army if he could, for Kurus and Sṛñjayas would continue to fight even during the night; with these words, Droṇa marched against Pāṇḍavas and Sṛñjayas (tvam ca duryodhana balaṁ yadi śaknoṣi dhāraya) 7. 126. 38-39; then, there was fierce fighting in the evening (samdhyaṁ) all around between Droṇa and Sṛñjayas 7. 129. 18; when the fierce fighting progressed during the night, Pāṇḍavas and Sṛñjayas together attacked Droṇa (rātriuddhe tathā ghore vartamāne sudārune); Droṇa forced all of them back killing some of them (tān